

FRANÇOIS BOURGUIGNON

Former Chief Economist and First Vice President of the World Bank and Emeritus Professor of Economics at the Paris School of Economics

---

- Held the position of Director of the Paris School of Economics from 2007 to the end of January 2013
- Author and advisor focused on poverty, inequality, and international development.
- Has a wealth of consulting experience with several governments and international organizations
- Author of several books and numerous articles in international economic journals

---

François Bourguignon is an Emeritus Professor of Economics at the Paris School of Economics and a Global Professor at New York University in Abu Dhabi. He served as Director of the Paris School from 2007 to 2013. Prior to that, he was Chief Economist and Senior Vice President of the World Bank in Washington, D.C.

Earlier in his career, he spent many years at the School for Advanced Studies in the Social Sciences (EHESS) in Paris. A prolific scholar, he has authored numerous academic papers and books on poverty and inequality in both developing and developed countries.

He remains actively engaged in the international development community, regularly lecturing and advising major international organizations and governments. His contributions have been recognized with several prestigious academic distinctions throughout his career.

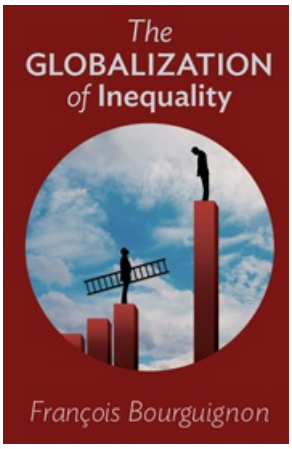

TEMAS

François tailors each presentation to the needs of his audience and is not limited to the topics listed below. Please ask us about any subject that interests you:

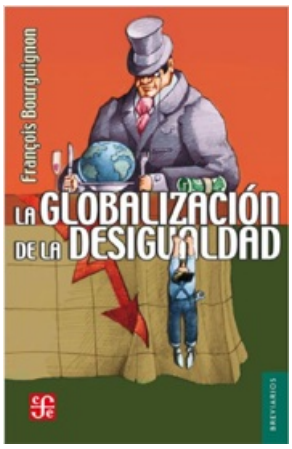

- The distributional impact of Economic Policies
- Income distribution
- Inequality and poverty
- Redistribution
- Economic development - Globalization and Inequality

PUBLICACIONES

Libros

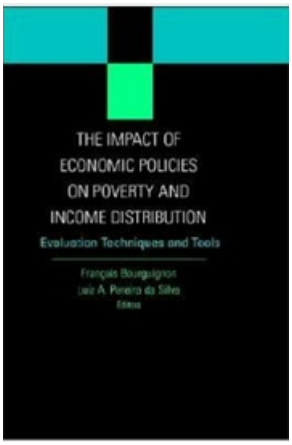

THE GLOBALIZATION OF INEQUALITY

LA GLOBALIZACION DE LA DESIGUALDAD

DEVELOPMENT AND THE NEXT GENERATION

THE IMPACT OF ECONOMIC POLICIES ON POWERTY AND INCOME DISTRIBUTION

CONDICIONES

- Travels From France
- Fee Range: Please Inquire